3 Common Types of Lawsuits Brought Against Corporate Directors and Officers

Individuals serving as corporate officers or directors are highly susceptible to being sued for actions taken in the performance of those roles. It is a common misconception that only large public companies face Director & Officer lawsuits (“D&O Lawsuits”). In reality, any business or non-profit with a corporate board or advisory committee – small or large – can face a director and officer lawsuit. In fact, these suits are so common that businesses often purchase D&O coverage to protect their directors and officers from personal liability if sued. This post discusses common types of lawsuits filed against corporate officers and directors and some related considerations.

Temporary Federal Court Ruling on Juul Vaping Products:

This month, the FDA (Federal and Drug Administration) ruled that Juul must temporarily discontinue e-cigarette sales within the United States. The temporary order resulted from the F.D.A.'s reasoning that there is inconsistent information from the company regarding the chemicals that could originate from Juul's e-liquid pods. Moreover, although rates of vaping have decreased due to the COVID-19 pandemic, a rise or return to these rates may occur due to reestablished social interactions.

President Biden's Gas Tax Holiday:

As the increasing price of gas has impacted many regions of the world, the United States faces an increase of at least $2 per gallon of gas. Thus, President Biden has proposed for Congress to suspend the federal gas tax for 3 months, until September. The President has urged Congress to suspend the gas tax, wherein an 18-cent tax per gallon of gasoline and a 24-cent tax per gallon of diesel. A full copy of the legislature can be found here.

What do you want the world to know about your brand and story?

Our law firm is rather unique in the sense that though we primarily do corporate work (e.g., litigation and transactional work), we've combined a niche area within family law that caters to complex cases that deal with primarily high net worth clients. These high net worth clients require their family law lawyer to have experience in corporate law, as well as family law. Our firm is also unique as I have an entrepreneurial/ business background that adds value to our client's cases and matters.

Nothing comes easy, each step, each business has been a learning process that has brought opportunities to me both personally and professionally. I have overcome most challenges in life with sheer determination and faith that what I am doing is what I should be doing and that I can accomplish anything that I set my mind to.
